BLURB

Brian Small Productions is dedicated to delivering a quality product at a fair price with responsive service. Each project begins by discussing the client's target audience, desired outcome, and budget. I then provide a comprehensive estimate for the project, including appropriate costs for management of any necessary outside vendor relationships such as stock photography, printing, product distribution, or any other step required to provide the desired deliverable.

Not only do I secure the best resources for each individual project, but I also ensure that it is priced competitively. All aspects of the project are then coordinated and orchestrated, following the implementation timeline that is initially presented to the client.

Because I work on a project-by-project basis, and bring in additional resources only when necessary, my prices are highly competitive and just a fraction of the costs that you would incur with larger studios in the design industry.
